PREFACE.

The Fire Place in these days of our modern renaissance, is one of the most, if not the very most important feature in the decoration of our Homes. Appreciating this fact, and being fully alive to the refining influences of art and the manifest desire of our people to surround themselves with things that are really beautiful, we have ventured, at considerable outlay, to place before you a book which we may truly call a work of art. The designs are the original creations of the most talented of our decorative art workers, while the work itself bears the impress and finish of the very best of handcraftsmen. We repeat, that this is somewhat of a venture on our part, still we are not without faith, strengthened by our past experience and surrounded as we are with the evidences of the growth of art amongst our people, but what our efforts will meet with due appreciation. In this work, we have endeavored not only to illustrate what is truly artistic, but have striven to present a variety, both in style and price, large enough to enable the buyer to make suitable selections for any class of work. We have also endeavored, and we think with considerable success, to give each design a distinctive character as a work of art, free from the conventionalisms and incongruities that have hitherto characterized this class of work.

We are prepared to furnish special designs, also to give estimates for the manufacture of Grates from any designs which may be submitted by Architects and others.

We would also take this opportunity of warning Manufacturers that this work is copyrighted, most of the designs being patented, and that any infringement on our rights, in this regard, will be prosecuted by us according to the law governing the same.
